Hanover approves budget, acts on other proposals

BY BOB DEMAREE

Hanover Town Council adopted its 2023 budget and took action on several other ordinances as part of a busy meeting on Tuesday.

In addition to adopting a 2023 budget totaling $1,405,509, the council approved the second reading of an ordinance pertaining to allocations of its American Rescue Plan funds and approved the first reading of an ordinance for an interlocal agreement that would terminate the county's Cable Advisory Board (CAB).

With both the city of Madison and Jefferson County Commissioners also holding first readings of the ordinance to terminate the CAB, town council members discussed plans for utilizing Hanover's own video equipment moving forward. The camera gear, purchased last year, will need to be setup and operating once the new

The concert will be at Trinity Methodist Church at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 22, and as always, the MPAF events are free and open to the public.

But unlike many of the accomplished artists who have come to Madison for the annual MPAF concert series, Robert Cart has deep Jefferson County roots. Madison adopts $12.7M budget, ordinances, holds public hearing

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Meeting for a third time in October, Madison City Council on Tuesday unanimously approved the city's $12.7 million budget for 2023, adopted a total of eight ordinances and held a public hearing on a grant application to develop a more private location for the children's advocacy center in Madison.

According to Madison Mayor Bob Courtney, the budget approved Tuesday hits on all of his administration's key initiatives: public safety, economic opportunity and quality of life with investments in law enforcement, city parks, sidewalks and streets and continued investment in the elimination of blighted properties.

"The 2023 budget puts people first, and I am thankful to council for their support," Courtney said in a statement released after the vote. "As you see investments being made to restore blighted properties, improve public safety, fix our sidewalks and infrastructure, and invest in our city parks system, we hope you will feel that to us, you come first."

Courtney highlighted several areas of the budget including a $4.7 million investment in public safety to support police and fire operational costs and continued education and training, a $1.5 million investment in the city parks system to include a reduction in the city golf course deficit by more than 60% and continuing to increase the city campground's profitability so more revenue can be reinvested into neighborhood parks. He said extending the city's P.A.C.E. Grant program will continue to eliminate blight

Kentucky nonprofit purchases Hubbard's 60-acre homestead

BY THE COURIER STAFF

An organization to preserve and protect the legacy of Harlan and Anna Hubbard is working to restore and preserve the Payne Hollow site that served as their home in Trimble County.

Payne Hollow on the Ohio Inc. is a Kentucky nonprofit 501(c)(3) corporation that was established in June. The organization has completed the first phase of its fundraising goal and officially purchased the 60-acre Payne Hollow property on Sept. 30. Donors are now being sought from the community who will be able to support the ongoing preservation and restoration of the structures, land and artifacts at Payne Hollow.

Harlan Hubbard and his wife, Anna Hubbard, captivated the public imagination when, after years of living on a shantyboat, they settled down in their homestead Payne's Hollow — later shortened by Harlan to "Payne Hollow," along the banks of the Ohio River where they lived for 35 years. The Hubbards spent their days living sustainably — foraging, fishing, gardening and chopping wood as well as writing, artmaking and playing music. They were unique in 20th century life, choosing a life of quiet solitude, foregoing electricity and running water and shunning modern tools and amenities.

Hanover BZA signs off on new cellphone tower

BY BOB DEMAREE

Hanover's Board of Zoning Appeals on Monday approved a conditional use permit for the construction of a new cellphone tower in Hanover as early as next spring.

The request was made by TowerCo, based in Carey, North Carolina, for a wireless communication tower on property that company will lease from the town of Hanover at its maintenance building and yard, 334 Lowery Lane. The facility will consist of a fenced 50-foot-by-50-foot compound, a 198-foot monopole tower with a one-foot lightning rod on top for an overall 199 foot height. The conditional use permit was approved for 30 years — the same length as the lease agreement with the town.

Thomas and Janet Lowry, representing Hanover Presbyterian Church, which has a cemetery east of the property, attended the meeting to inquire on how visible the tower will be from the cemetery.

Fred Low, site acquisition specialist for TowerCo, said the tower will be located at the east end of the maintenance yard to keep trees intact for a barrier so that the equipment associated with the tower is not visible and "screens us" from neighbors. He said keeping the height of the tower below 200 fee prevents having to light the tower, which is required for towers in excess of 200 feet.

"We don't anticipate the FAA (Federal Aviation Administration) is going to require it to be lit at night, so you won't even know it's there (at night), but in the day you will," Low said, noting the tower's galvanized gray color will blend in with the sky for much of the year which "makes it less pronounced than it otherwise would be."

Thomas Lowry said he expects that at 199 feet the tower will be able to be seen from the cemetery "but it's not going to be obtrusive" and he did not see a reason to oppose the project. Rick Schnebelt, the town's building inspector, noted that none of the other neighbors have expressed any opposition to the tower.

The anchor tenant for the tower will be AT&T, which Low said had reached out to TowerCo wanting the tower to improve its coverage in the Hanover area. However, Low said the tower will have the capability to add other cellphone companies if wanted. "The pole is designed for four carriers," he said.

In addition to cellphone companies, space could also be rented to wireless Internet providers. "Basically, anything wireless" will have the capability of being utilized through the tower, Low said.

With zoning approval secured, TowerCo will now work with its construction group to determine when the tower can be built. "This late in the season I'm betting it's going to be March," Low said.

and attract investment, raise property values and reduce crime and investing in the city's infrastructure will improve the city's streets and sidewalks and improve pedestrian safety.

The budget plan was adopted by a 7-0 vote, as were several other ordinances on third reading and two others on second reading that were expedited to a third reading and votes to adopt. However, there were also two ordinances that met some opposition — a new schedule of fees for planning, preservation and design services and applications that passed by a 4-3 vote and an ordinance setting salaries of appointed officers and employees that passed 5-2 after both faced opposition during earlier hearings.

The fees schedule narrowly passed 4-3 with Councilmen Patrick Thevenow, Curtis Chatham and Dan Dattilo opposing but Carla Krebs, Lucy Dattilo, Josh Schafer and Jim Bartlett voting in favor. The employee compensation ordinance was opposed by Chatham and Thevenow while passing 5-2.

Other ordinances that were adopted on third readings included an amendment to the local plan for expenditure of ARP funds, the notice to taxpayers on the 2023 budget, fixing compensation for elected officials and a revenue bond issue for the Madison waterworks project. Bills that received a second reading and immediately moved to a third reading and passage include creating a donation fund for the Oak Hill Park project and creating funds for the city's READI grant projects.

The one ordinance on second reading that was not immediately moved to a third reading and passage was an amendment to the city's Historic District ordinance to adopt a new historic district survey that includes a cloud-based map off all structures in the downtown historic district.

The project is the product of months of study and research to complete the first survey update for the city's historic district in 20 years. The field portion of the survey — the door to door cataloging and assessment of all properties in the historic district — took place between October 2021 and February 2022 by consultant with RuskinARC of Chicago and city staff. The project identified 26 styles of structures in 38 forms involving 1,940 total properties broken down as significant (134), contributing (1,411) and none contributing (395). A total of 32 structures were assessed as endangered while 75 have been demolished. The previous survey listed 1,695 historic properties — some of those duplexes that are now listed individually — with 401 noted as non-contributing.

The structures evaluated as "significant" are the city's most important historic sites while all structures built prior to 1940 were listed as contributing with the exception of buildings that have been so heavily modified or dilapidated that they've lost historical significance. All modern buildings and those historic homes that have been heavily modified make up the 395 non-contributing sites.

According to Nicole Schell, director of planning, a link to the document is currently on the city's website listed as a "draft" document until approved by city council. Once council adopts the ordinance, the document will become official.

"I want to compliment the whole city hall staff for putting this together," said Mike Pittman, who serves on the city's Historic Board of Review. "The paper forms we had before were tedious and it was really what I call a windshield survey in which most of the survey was done from a car driving down the streets but this was pretty thorough from what I saw with a lot of detail in it.

"Plus, I think the benefit to the city is that this is accessible by everybody within the city to look at it and check their property and they can come to the staff and say 'I agree with this' or 'Hey, I found this and I think I should be reclassified or whatever.' So I think it's a real benefit for us — especially the Historic Board — because we can also use this as part of what we're doing and looking at the various properties so I'm thrilled we got it through and I trust you all will support it."

Courtney noted that previously residents had to search for their property in a 100-page pdf but the new document is cloud-based and searchable so that a property can be located in a matter of seconds by address and other identifiers. "The fact that it's cloud-based makes it very easy," he said.

In other business, the council:

- Heard the first reading of an ordinance establishing an interlocal agreement with Hanover and Jefferson County to abolish their joint Cable Advisory Board with Jefferson County being reimbursed $10,000 plus possession of a $4,000 camera and tripod and equipment currently stored in the basement of Madison City Hall being sold at auction with the proceeds divided between Hanover and Madison.
- Held a public hearing on an OCRA Grant application seeking to fund a more suitable and private location for the local Children's Advocacy Center of Southeastern Indiana office in Madison.
- Recognized Blaike Powell as recipient of Madison Police Department's Community Hero Award for intervening in a Sept. 21, violent attack on a co-worker at Kroger. Powell restrained attacker Todd J, Bruseau, 46, of Ohio, until police could arrive and take control of the situation.

"I originally played clarinet until the 8th grade, under the excellent guidance of band director Mark Johnson, then I switched to flute. But I was also joining all the singing groups I could.

"I guess you could say I was the typical overachieving band kid back in those days. I was in marching band, I was in every group and ensemble I could join, and I was doing lots of solo competitions and going to state. I also sang in the Swing Choir, with Teresa Saylor Grayson, Brook Reindollar, Linda Erwin Pierson and Jim Taylor. Plus I was in the Louisville Youth Orchestra.

"It wasn't hard for me to decide that music would be my life. But fortunately my high school career wasn't 100% music. My English teacher Mrs. Adler taught me just enough grammar and composition skills that I was able to successfully write my doctoral dissertation many years later!

"I went to DePauw University for my undergrad, then to IU for my masters. And I should mention, my entire college career, including my masters and PhD, were based on my singing, not flute. I was totally into opera during that phase of my education, even though I continued to take flute lessons on the side.

"Opera was my career when I got out of college. I sang all over the world during the 1990s, wherever they needed a tenor. All over the U.S., Germany, you name it. It was a fun period of my life. But eventually, like most people, I started looking for a place to land and settle down.

"I got a teaching job at Shippensburg University in Pennsylvania, then Rowan University in New Jersey, where I became dean of the Fine & Performing Arts Department. And then finally, catching up to now, I'm director of the School of Music at Montclair State University.

"Music has been a great way of life for me. I've sung at Carnegie Hall, played flute at the Kennedy Center. I did a performance in Shanghai, China, that combined singing and flute playing. More recently I've played in Paris at the American Cathedral and the Atlantic Music Festival in Waterville, Maine.

"But then last November I had to come back to Madison for a funeral. I hadn't been back for 15 years, I must confess. And it got me thinking about my old hometown and how fun it would be to perform here again. So I contacted Starla Rayley from MPAF and we set up this show. In fact, Starla is going to be my piano accompanist for the event.

"I hope everyone who loves classical music can make it out for this show on Saturday. The acoustics in Trinity Church are amazing, and we have some very special selections lined up for this concert."

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

So much music this weekend, please do your part and attend a few of the shows.

He was born on Dec. 23, 1934, in the Appalachian coal mining town of Jenkins, Kentucky, to Warren Wilson and Lora Vangeline Epperson Auxier. His family moved to Radford, Virginia, and then to Saluda township in Jefferson County, Indiana, in 1940. He graduated from Saluda High School in 1953 near Hanover, and entered the US Marine Corps on Jan. 31, 1954. He married Marjorie Watson later that year and they had five sons. He was transferred to the Marine Corps Reserves in 1957 and honorably discharged with the rate of sergeant on Jan. 31, 1962. He joined his father in the family business, Auxier Gas Service, in Hanover, and then founded Bulk Truck and Transport in 1976 as one of the country's larger manufacturers of propane delivery trucks. He was a founding member of Citizen's Bank and, with his wife, purchased and renovated the Cisco Meat Market on West Main Street in Madison, Indiana, to include a residence and Margie's Country Store. He was owner and developer of the Madison Trolley Barn shops in 1972; supervised the relocation and rebuilding of an historic downtown carriage house to its present location behind the Trolley Barn on West Main Street and sat on the Madison Zoning Board and various business organizations. His skills in plumbing, electrical and carpentry were used in building his home in Hanover and helping with other family homes. He and son Warren Auxier trailered a 50-foot metal hull and house from Florida and began a three-year project of building an ocean-going trawler that they launched in 2003 and traveled many waterways around the country. He enjoyed boat trips and fishing in the Gulf of Mexico near his second home in Pass Christian, Mississippi, but his primary interest remained building and running his two businesses. He was known for his ideas in truck design and manufacture and his innovations in the propane truck industry are utilized industry-wide.

Survivors include his wife, Kendra Auxier of Hanover; his sons, Warren Auxier, Patrick Auxier and Shawn Auxier, all of Hanover, and Darrell Auxier and David Auxier, both of Madison; his stepson, Matt Leininger of Indianapolis; his first wife and mother of his sons, Marjorie Watson Auxier Webb of Madison; and nine grandchildren, seven great grandchildren, an aunt, several nieces, nephews, cousins and other relatives.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a brother, Joel Dewain Auxier; and two sisters, Mary Ruth Auxier Shaffer and Madonna Ann Auxier Ferguson.

A time of remembrance service will be conducted at noon on Saturday, Oct. 29, at his business, Bulk Truck and Transport, 659 West Lagrange Road, Hanover. Interment will be in the New Prospect Cemetery near Hanover at a later date with military honors. Visitation will be from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 29, at Bulk Truck and Transport. Arrangements entrusted to Morgan & Nay Funeral Centres of Hanover and Madison.

TODAY IN HISTORY

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHT IN HISTORY:

On Oct. 20, 2011, Moammar Gadhafi, 69, Libya's dictator for 42 years, was killed as revolutionary fighters overwhelmed his hometown of Sirte (SURT) and captured the last major bastion of resistance two months after his regime fell.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1803, the U.S. Senate ratified the Louisiana Purchase.

In 1947, the House Un-American Activities Committee opened hearings into alleged Communist influence and infiltration in the U.S. motion picture industry.

In 1967, a jury in Meridian, Mississippi, convicted seven men of violating the civil rights of slain civil rights workers James Chaney, Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner; the seven received prison terms ranging from 3 to 10 years.

In 1976, 78 people were killed when the Norwegian tanker Frosta rammed the commuter ferry George Prince on the Mississippi River near New Orleans.

In 1977, three members of the rock group Lynyrd Skynyrd, including lead singer Ronnie Van Zant, were killed along with three others in the crash of a chartered plane near McComb, Mississippi.

In 1979, the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum was dedicated in Boston.

In 1990, three members of the rap group 2 Live Crew were acquitted by a jury in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., of violating obscenity laws with an adults-only concert in nearby Hollywood the previous June.

In 2001, officials announced that anthrax had been discovered in a House postal facility on Capitol Hill.

In 2004, a U.S. Army staff sergeant, Ivan "Chip" Frederick, pleaded guilty to abusing Iraqi detainees at Abu Ghraib prison. (Frederick was sentenced to eight years in prison; he was paroled in 2007.)

In 2018, Saudi Arabia announced that U.S.-based journalist Jamal Khashoggi (jah-MAHL'khahr-SHOHK'-jee) had been killed in Saudi Arabia's consulate in Istanbul; there was immediate international skepticism over the Saudi account that Khashoggi had died during a "fistfight." (A U.S. intelligence report later concluded that Saudi crown prince Mohammed bin Salman had likely approved Khashoggi's killing by a team of Saudi security and intelligence officials.)

In 2020, two weeks before Election Day, President Donald Trump called on Attorney General William Barr to immediately launch an investigation into unverified claims about Democrat Joe Biden and his son Hunter, effectively demanding that the Justice Department abandon its historic resistance to getting involved in elections.

Ten years ago: Heading into the campaign's final weeks, Republican presidential candidate Mitt Romney upped his criticism of President Barack Obama's plans for a second term, accusing the Democrat of failing to tell Americans what he would do with four more years; the Obama campaign aggressively disputed the notion, claiming it was Romney who hadn't provided specific details to voters.

Five years ago: The U.S. government said 24 of its workers had now been confirmed to be victims of invisible attacks in Cuba. Suicide bombers struck two mosques in Afghanistan during Friday prayers, killing more than 60 people.

One year ago: Nikolas Cruz pleaded guilty to murdering 17 people during a February, 2018, rampage at his former high school in Parkland, Florida. Nine months after being expelled from social media for his role in inciting the Jan. 6 Capitol insurrection, former President Donald Trump said he was launching a new media company with its own social media platform. New York Mayor Bill de Blasio said the city would require its entire municipal workforce to be vaccinated against COVID-19 or be placed on unpaid leave. Netflix employees staged a walkout from the company's office-studio complex in Los Angeles in protest of a Netflix special in which comedian Dave Chappelle made anti-transgender comments. A federal court filing revealed that the NFL and lawyers for thousands of retired players had reached an agreement to end race-based adjustments in dementia testing in a $1 billion settlement of concussion claims.

on a shantyboat down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, and his book, "Payne Hollow: Life on the Fringe of Society" tells about their frugal and simple living on that property. As an artist, he worked in oil painting, watercolor and woodcutting.

Payne Hollow on the Ohio's founding board members are Dr. David Wicks, Dr. Ted Steinbock, Joe Wolek and Jessica Whitehead.

Wicks, the chair of the organization's board of directors, said, "Payne Hollow on the Ohio is at the confluence of art, culture, and the environment along our waterways. As Mr. Hubbard has written, there are few wild places left on the Ohio River, and we plan on preserving his small corner of the world; a place for creative and reflective kindred spirits."

Bob Canida, a Madison dentist and close personal friend of Harlan and Anna Hubbard, said, "Anna and Harlan Hubbard were reclusive in some ways, but they were also so humble, inviting, inclusive, and admired by everyone who came in contact with them. Part of their mission was to showcase a simpler way to live, and most visitors left with a new sense of understanding and a desire to change the direction of their lives in some way. Even years after their death people still associate with the message of their lived lives and desire to experience some flavors of their lifestyle."

Steinbock said, "I read Harlan Hubbard's Shantyboat as a high school student in 1967 and he became my hero, embodying an alternative lifestyle that was self-contained and self-sustaining. He lived simply yet richly with Anna at Payne Hollow using water from a gravity fed spring and shunning electricity. Here they made music, inspired his art, cultivated the land and fished the river."

When the Hubbards died in the 1980s, Paul Hassfurder, a friend and fellow artist, inherited and maintained the property, putting his own unique stamp on its history. Now that responsibility has been passed to Payne Hollow on the Ohio, an organization which seeks to honor the Hollow's former owners by tirelessly bringing the land and structures back to their former glory.

Payne Hollow on the Ohio has set several goals for the next two years including:

- To safeguard, catalog, and digitize the historically significant artifacts and archives on the property.
- To stabilize the property's architecturally significant structures and perform sensitive reconstruction and restoration of its structures and land features.
- To nominate Payne Hollow to the National Register of Historic Places.
- To conduct comprehensive flora and fauna studies and explore future designations as a nature preserve.

Whitehead said strategic planning is also beginning for beyond 2025. "We are actively planning for what the future holds, and hope to engage our board, volunteers, donor base, and community in that visioning process. But, common threads run through the ideas we have already discussed for Payne Hollow's future: threads like creativity and sustainability. I think it is the common goal of all of us at Payne Hollow to educate and inspire the community — through the instructive example of Harlan and Anna Hubbard's life at Payne Hollow — to understand how culture and ecology can find a place in their lives."

To learn more about Payne Hollow on the Ohio's goals, work, team and future, or to make a donation to our ongoing projects, visit www.paynehollowontheohio.org. Donations and gifts of any amount will help Payne Hollow on the Ohio meet its fundraising goals. They can be made through the website or via check.

Due to the severe topography, habitat concerns, historical landmarks and management, access to Payne Hollow on the Ohio is by permission only. Guided tours and events on the property will be announced in the coming months and property access will be limited to those events.

PROPOSALS

interlocal agreement is finalized if Hanover is to continuing recording its meetings for webcasts. The city of Madison already has such procedures in place and Jefferson County will likely establish its own procedures after all participating entities have adopted the ordinance.

In other business, with $647,733 in ARP funding coming to the town, $200,000 will be allocated to water, sewer and broadband infrastructure development, $200,000 to trash collection, $100,733 to parks and buildings, $52,000 for security of town properties and $50,000 for police department vehicles. Additionally, $20,000 is being set aside for the Hanover Township Volunteer Fire Department and $5,000 for the Hanover Township Trustee. Another $20,000 is also being earmarked for the town's five-year comprehensive plan.

The ARP dollars directed toward trash collection could be used to purchase a trash collection truck with the city then providing its own trash collection services.

The ARP dollars directed toward trash collection could be used to purchase a trash collection truck with the city then providing its own trash collection services.

Meanwhile, the council approved a one year renewal of its contract with Rumpke extending that agreement to Oct. 31, 2023, with anticipation that the town would take over trash collection after that.

"By that time we should have decisions made on our own trash truck and our own pickup, and employees for that," said town council president Kenny Garrett.

Under the new contract, the town's cost for trash and recycling collection by Rumpke will be $12.50 for trash and $3.50 for recycling per household per month.

In other business:

- Approved a resolution to dissolve the senior citizens advisory council that was created earlier this year, and to have decisions for the senior citizens program directed to the parks department's event coordinator. Garrett said senior citizens felt they were not getting enough representation, and want to report directly to the event coordinator without having council officers do that.
- Garrett said the tentative date for the town's new website to go live is Nov. 9 for both the town government and parks department sections.
- Approved a proclamation for the dedication of a veterans' tree at the Hanover Community Park on Nov. 11.

Trimble County dominates in semifinal over Owen County

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Trimble County made quick work of Owen County, blitzing past the Rebels in three sets in the semifinals of the 31st District Volleyball Tournament on Tuesday in Bedford.

The host Raiders came ready to play and were only challenged in one set, winning by scores of 25-11, 25-13 and 25-20.

"That is how they can play when they all come out ready to play," Trimble coach Shawna Jent said. "We're glad they decided to bring it come districts."

Trimble County (15-10) wasted little time in establishing leads in all three sets and only briefly experienced any kind of resistance.

Trimble's Gracie Jent opened the first set with five-straight scores to give the Raiders an early 5-0 lead, but Owen County rallied with a six-point serving run of its own behind Ellie Perkins to take a 7-5 lead.

But the Raiders got the side out on a serving error and promptly took control of the set. A service ace by Bailyn Clifford gave Trimble a 9-8 lead and the Raiders closed the set on a tear, outscoring the Rebels 17-3 the rest of the way to win 25-11.

The second set was even more lopsided. After a serving error on Owen's first attempt, Gracie Jent again served the Raiders to a big lead with seven-straight points en route to an 8-0 lead. Owen never recovered and the Raiders leaped ahead by scores of 14-4, 17-8 and 21-10 before finishing off the 25-13 win.

The third set was the closest of the match but even it was a blowout early. The Raiders jumped ahead 7-2 and led 17-9 before Owen mounted a rally. Trimble tightened a bit and the Rebels closed to within 19-16 before an Aubree Craig kill stopped the run and Clifford served the Raiders to a 21-17 lead. Owen got back to within four (22-18) but an Anna Benecke kill and two errors by the Rebels closed out the match 25-20.

> "Our biggest focus in the offseason was our defense and we actually went more to camp just to focus on that defensive coverage. And they put it into play tonight."

For Trimble coach Jent, the key to the win was the Raiders' ability to cover the floor and keep Owen from staging any rallies.

"Our biggest focus in the offseason was our defense and we actually went more to camp just to focus on that defensive coverage. And they put it into play tonight," Jent said. "

We covered our tips, which is normally something we struggle with. And we watched a lot of game film to know how they play and understand what we've got to cover. They executed it beautifully."

Burrow to Chase in clutch looks familiar

{&BYAP}BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Whether it turns around Cincinnati's season remains to be seen — there are 11 games to go — but the Bengals took a step in the right direction with their come-from-behind 30-26 win at New Orleans on Sunday.

The Bengals completed the rally on Joe Burrow's short pass to his former LSU teammate Ja'Marr Chase, who broke a tackle and sped down the left sideline to finish off a 60-yard scoring play that gave the Bengals their first lead with 1:57 remaining.

"Breaking a lot of tackles," Cincinnati coach Zac Taylor said. "We threw him a back-shoulder fade.

" He and Joe just do a great job with that type of chemistry. I think he shrugged off the initial one and then kind of outran the coverage on the safety. That's what he does. He is a special player. He almost got us one earlier in the game on just a quick out. He almost broke one and took it. This time, he finished it off, which was good to see."

The win coupled with Baltimore's 24-20 loss to the New York Giants allowed the Bengals to move into a tie for first place in the AFC North.

Irsay says there's 'merit to remove' Snyder

BY ROB MAADDI
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

NEW YORK — Colts owner Jim Irsay says there's "merit to remove" Dan Snyder as owner of the Washington Commanders, making him the first NFL owner to publicly state that his controversial counterpart should go.

Snyder's status has been widely debated for years amid several scandals and investigations into workplace conduct in Washington. The league has been investigating allegations of sexual misconduct and financial impropriety, a probe conducted by attorney Mary Jo White that is ongoing.

Removing Snyder would be unprecedented and requires 24 votes from the other owners.

"It's something we have to review, we have to look at all the evidence and we have to be thorough and it's something that has to be given serious consideration," Irsay said Tuesday. "I believe in the workplace today, the standard that the shield stands for in the NFL, that you have to stand for that and protect that.

"I just think once owners talk among each other they will arrive at the right decision.

Colts receiving corps takes major step in win over Jaguars

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Indianapolis coach Frank Reich and general manager Chris Ballard spent the spring and summer insisting the Colts receiving group would be strong, deep and productive.

Yes, they expected it to take time for a young, mostly unproven group of receivers to grow into new roles and jell with another new quarterback.

In Week 6, the contingent finally demonstrated what it could do — together.

Rookie receiver Alec Pierce and rookie tight end Jelani Woods each caught one touchdown pass. So did the oft-injured Parris Campbell. Second-year tight end Kylen Granson and Michael Pittman Jr., the most accomplished receiver, routinely turned short throws into big plays.

The combination produced Indy's best offensive game of the season, a 34-27 victory over Jacksonville.

"It definitely felt great for this offense to really come into our own, having a bunch of the young guys stepping up," Granson said Monday.

"It felt really good putting that on tape."

Quarterback Matt Ryan wore down Jacksonville's defense with a flurry of short, quick throws that gave receivers a chance to make plays with their legs. The no-huddle strategy worked perfectly.

Ryan completed a career-high and franchise-record 42 passes for 389 yards, the last coming on a 32-yard score to Pierce with 17 seconds left.

Pierce played the third-and-13 call like a veteran.

"I thought if they came up and pressed like they did, he was going to throw the ball my way," Pierce said.

IRSAY

Unfortunately, I believe that's the road we probably need to go down and we just need to finish the investigation, but it's gravely concerning to me the things that have occurred there over the last 20 years."

A person familiar with the thinking of several owners told The Associated Press that they agree with Irsay and have serious concerns about the allegations against Snyder. The person, who spoke to the AP on condition of anonymity because the conversations are private, said a group of owners believe Snyder's dismissal would be best for the NFL and the other 31 teams. The person doesn't know if 24 owners would vote to remove Snyder, but momentum is building against him.

NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell cautioned owners to reserve judgment until the investigation is completed.

"There's no reason for there to be any speculation at this point in time or discussion until we have the facts. That was my message to ownership," Goodell said. "Speculation without facts is not a very positive thing to do. I think everyone deserves to have the facts and to make sure those decisions are made with facts, and the membership will have that opportunity."

The Commanders released a statement saying the Snyders will not sell the team.

"It is highly inappropriate, but not surprising, that Mr. Irsay opted to make statements publicly based on falsehoods in the media," the statement said. "It is unfortunate that Mr. Irsay decided to go public with his statement today, while an investigation is in process, and the team has had no opportunity to formally respond to allegations. The Commanders have made remarkable progress over the past two years. We are confident that, when he has an opportunity to see the actual evidence in this case, Mr. Irsay will conclude that there is no reason for the Snyders to consider selling the franchise. And they won't."

Goodell said there's no timeline for White to submit her report. It's anticipated she's nearing the end of the investigation, a person familiar with the matter told The Associated Press. The person spoke to the AP on condition of anonymity because the investigation remains open.

Snyder's ownership of the Commanders became a big issue again last week when ESPN reported, citing anonymous sources, that he has hired private investigators and told people he has enough information to expose fellow owners and Goodell.

The Commanders denied the contents of the report, calling it "categorically untrue" and "clearly part of a well-funded, two-year campaign to coerce the sale of the team, which will continue to be unsuccessful."

Snyder addressed the report in a letter to owners.

"That is patently false and intended to erode the trust and goodwill between owners that I take quite seriously," Snyder wrote in the letter obtained by the AP. "I have never hired any private investigator to look into any owner or the commissioner. I have never instructed or authorized my lawyers to hire any private investigator on my behalf for any such purpose. And I never would."

Snyder added he did not take for granted the privilege of being able to own an NFL franchise and said he and wife Tanya are available if anyone has questions or wants to discuss any issues.

Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones, a known supporter of Snyder, declined to throw the embattled owner under the bus, despite ESPN's report of a rift between the longtime confidants.

"I have no knowledge of anything that has got any basis to it," Jones said.

Tanya Snyder, the team's co-CEO, and Commanders President Jason Wright represented the team at the meetings.

Snyder and the organization are also currently the subject of an ongoing investigation by the U.S. House Committee on Oversight and Reform. Snyder has owned the team since 1999.

Lawyers representing dozens of former Washington employees wrote a letter to Goodell expressing concern over an element of ESPN's report last week that indicated Snyder used the league's independent investigation to gather information on witnesses who participated given the promise of confidentiality.

"After participating in the investigation, and after the NFL revealed witness names, several of our clients were harassed by private investigators, some were publicly disparaged and/or removed from team alumni groups and at least one who was still working for the tram was terminated," attorneys Lisa Banks and Debra Katz wrote in the letter.

"If true, (the ESPN-reported) 'tip sheet' allegation is not only normally reprehensible, but it also provides the basis for us to take legal action against the NFL."

The NFL denied the allegations, with a spokesperson saying the league has repeatedly committed to protecting the anonymity of witnesses who took part in Beth Wilkinson's investigation.

"The NFL did not share their names with the Commanders and their lawyers," the statement said. "The allegation is false. Ms. Wilkinson and her firm kept their pledge to the witnesses and did not share their identities with the commissioner or league staff other than the limited number of participants who were willing to be identified.

TRIMBLE

Trimble went 64-for-75 serving on the night with Gracie Jent going 16-for-16 serving with an ace, Clifford going 16-for-16 with an ace, Olivia Liter going 13-for-15 with three aces, and Craig going 9-for-11. Craig also had five kills and a block, Clifford had three kills and Benecke and Bree Turner collecting two kills each.

In the other semifinal, top seeded Eminence had little trouble with county rival Henry County, posting a 3-0 (25-18, 25-9, 25-17) victory. Eminence advances to the championship match with a 24-7 record including three wins over Trimble County this season — two of which were in straight sets.

Despite those losses, all three matches were close and Trimble picked up a set win in a 3-1 loss at home on Sept. 7. Coach Jent knows the challenge her team faces, but also believes they will be ready to play.

"I told them this morning that we have sparkling grape juice and cupcakes in the locker room and we're either going to celebrate a win or we're going to celebrate that we had a great season. It's for them to decide when it's over. They have that mentality of 'we're going to decidewhen it's over' and they didn't want it to be over yet (tonight) so we're going to keep going."

— Shawna Jent
Trimble County coach

"I think that they've seen tonight what they're capable of. They know they're not done yet and I have five seniors that know that this is their last chance to get it done," Jent said. "I told them this mowrning that we have sparkling grape juice and cupcakes in the locker room and we're either going to celebrate a win or we're going to celebrate that we had a great season. It's for them to decide when it's over. They have that mentality of 'we're going to decide when it's over' and they didn't want it to be over yet (tonight) so we're going to keep going."

The 31st District Tournament Championship game was played on Wednesday, after The Madison Courier's deadlines. Full coverage will be available in Saturday's edition.

Owen Co. 3, Carroll Co. 0 (Monday) — Carroll County's season came to an end with a 3-0 loss to Owen County in the 31st District Tournament semifinals on Monday night in Bedford.

The Panthers lost 25-17, 25-7 and 25-9.

Courtney Strickland had two kills for Carroll, Elle Spencer had a kill and two assists, Taylor Butler had a kill and an assist, Sidney Singer had a kill and Josie Dale had a block.

Carroll ends the season with a 1-18 record.

The passing game. Burrow connected with six different receivers for 28 completions, three touchdowns and 300 yards on 37 throws. With the running game still struggling, gaining only 75 yards on 14 carries, the Bengals relied on short passes that yielded big results — none bigger than Chase's go-ahead score, which revived memories in Cincinnati of their connection last season, when the Bengals reached the Super Bowl.

"When I saw the look, I knew that I was going there," Burrow said.

"They are a good defense — a really good defense. They made it tough on us all day. We get a play down the stretch to get the win."

WHAT NEEDS HELP

The run defense, especially with nose tackle D.J. Reader (knee) on injured reserve. New Orleans finished with 228 yards on the ground.

STOCK UP

Chase showed signs of recapturing his 2021 Offensive Rookie of the Year form with seven catches for 132 yards, an average of 18.9 yards per catch.

STOCK DOWN

Trent Taylor appeared to strip himself of the football during a first quarter-return. The ball came loose after he banged it against his shoulder while running. The Saints turned it into a touchdown and 7-0 lead.

INJURIES

Reserve defensive end and special teams contributor Jeff Gunter was carted off the field with a knee injury he suffered during pregame warmups. Nose tackle Josh Tupou (calf) and linebacker Logan Wilson (shoulder) were forced to leave the game.

KEY NUMBER

4 — The number of field goals the Saints were held to by a Cincinnati defense that gave up 399 yards of total offense. New Orleans was 1 for 5 in the red zone, while the Bengals were 3 for 3.

"That's what our defense has done — keep people out of the end zone and limit scores," Taylor said.

"I know they hit the long one on us, but when teams get down there, they have to earn every inch.

"The defense takes a lot of pride in their red-zone defense limiting people to field goals and trying to create turnovers."

NEXT STEPS

The Bengals face their second consecutive NFC South opponent when the Atlanta Falcons (3-3) visit on Sunday.

"Knowing they were going to play the sticks, playing aggressive, just trying to get us out of field-goal range. ... I just saw the ball up in the air. I had a little bit of a step, at least he (Shaquill Griffin) was in panic mode, so he was chasing and wasn't able to react."

He wound up with three catches for 49 yards though the stats never seem to reflect Pierce's true impact. He also got Griffin twice for an additional 24 yards on pass interference calls — calls that made Griffin more hesitant at the end.

It's not just Pierce.

While Pittman remains Ryan's most consistent target, Campbell, Granson and Woods matched Pittman's 13 receptions and combined for 163 yards. And second-year running back Deon Jackson, an undrafted free agent, was a perfect 10 for 10 on balls thrown his direction for 79 yards.

Reich and Ballard believe this group can keep it up and after Sunday's confidence-building performance so does everyone else.

"That is the key thing, taking another step, trying to keep this rolling and keep that rhythm going," Woods said. "We know what we have, and we know the things we can do. We just have to put it all together and keep going."

WHAT'S WORKING

No-huddle offense. The quicker pace certainly gave Ryan & Co. a jolt of energy. Perhaps most important, it kept Ryan upright. While he did take some big hits, Ryan was not sacked and had no fumbles for the first time all season. Indy also finished with its highest-scoring total in 13 games.

WHAT NEEDS HELP

Run defense. Maybe it's a Jacksonville thing. Indy entered the week with the league's No. 4 run defense but allowed 243 yards Sunday. It was most allowed by Indy since giving up 179 in November 2021 — to the Jags. It needs to be cleaned up quickly with Derrick Henry up next.

STOCK UP

Jackson. He filled in nicely at Denver but made an impressive starting debut Sunday with 12 carries for 42 yards, capped by a powerful 3-yard TD run in addition to his pass-catching prowess.

STOCK DOWN

Bernhard Raimann. Days after Reich said the rookie would continue playing left tackle and the Colts would live with the growing pains, Raimann left after Indy's second possession. Reich said the plan was to alternate Raimann with veteran Dennis Kelly but Kelly played so well they kept him in the game. That does not appear to be a permanent decision.

INJURIES

Jackson left late in the game with an injured quad, but the bigger concern is Keke Coutee. The veteran took a big shot on a punt return and remained down for several minutes, a scary enough sight that players from both teams took a knee. Eventually, he walked to the locker room and was diagnosed with a concussion. Reich doesn't expect him to play at Tennessee.

KEY NUMBER

Four. The Colts ended a 110-minute, 20-second touchdown drought by scoring four touchdowns in the final 32 1/2 minutes against the Jags. Indy had six TDs in its first five games.

NEXT STEPS

The victory, and the offensive performance, were promising signs. Now the Colts must prove it wasn't just a one-game fluke with a visit to division-leading Tennessee. A win in Nashville would put Indy atop the AFC South and even its division record at 2-2-1.

Couple experiences professional disconnect

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: Overall, things are great between my partner "Beth" and me.

Beth is a teacher and I'm a security engineer. Basically, I work as a computer hacker that stops computer hackers.

Every day after work, I'll listen and weigh in while Beth tells me about troubles at the school, her kids, learning about different teaching methods and policies, curriculum, theories — and everything in between.

Unfortunately, when it comes to me sharing things about my work, she will say, "I don't like/understand technology" and remove herself from the conversation.

I have tried supplying all kinds of metaphors, offering to show bare bones basics, anything else I can think of. She simply says, "Oh it's tech. I'm not interested."

I love how passionate she is about her career, but it hurts that I cannot share my own passion with her. Any suggestions? — Multifactor Your Heart

Dear Multifactor: I looked up "Multifactor" to discern what you might have meant by signing your question that way, which tells me two things. One: For those of us in the non-tech "people" business, your orientation might occasionally be difficult to understand.

Two: I am willing to take some easy steps to try to understand you. Your partner should do the same. She is a teacher. Is she also capable of learning?

When she shuts you down, you should call her on it. "Beth, responding the way you do is rude. When you do that, I honestly feel hurt."

You could also tell her that you spend a lot of time listening and have done your utmost to learn about her profession so that you can communicate with her about it. You might ask her if there are ways you could engage her more fully in your profession.

My instinct is that if you reframed your explanations to include more details about the people you work with or the people or institutions your work affects, it might help her relate to you, but ultimately she should be considerate enough to develop a working interest in a pursuit which is obviously very important to you.

Teenager takes on the burden of his childhood

AMY DICKINSON

Dear Amy: I am a 16-year-old boy. I have lived with my grandparents for the last six years.

I used to live with my parents, but gradually spent more time at my grandparents' house.

This eventually evolved into spending entire weeks at my grandparents', and later bringing my belongings there. I have two older siblings.

I now believe that I basically ran away from home, and I don't feel content with this decision I made when I was only 10 years old.

It's hard to identify if my relationship with my mother was abusive, as she never broke any laws; still, I never felt comfortable living with her, and my dad would exhaust himself at work every day and wouldn't get home until very late at night.

My mom and dad are now divorced and live in separate homes. My mom has a new boyfriend. She seems happier and more stable than when she had to deal with three children. Now I feel even more regretful for running away.

I forgive my mom, but I don't know how to have a conversation with her about our past or our future, because when I try to talk about our past, she denies everything and dismisses the conversation.

So I am asking you, Amy, how I should discuss the past with my mother and try to rebuild our strained relationship for the future?

— The Runaway

Dear Runaway: You are such a responsible teenager, and yet like many survivors you are trying to rebuild something that you did not break. You did nothing wrong. Your mother will continue to deny her role in your story (she's protecting herself).

You don't mention trying to discuss this with your grandparents. I think you should. They know you, they know your folks, and I think they would probably appreciate the opportunity to talk to you and comfort you. Your school counselor should also be able to hook you up with someone to talk to about this.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — This could be a time to mind your own business. Your instincts might urge you to interfere and meddle or to throw your weight around, but you'll find more success by remaining neutral and tending to your own needs.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You might feel pushed into making a poor business decision. Possessiveness could become an issue that causes a rift between you and a loved one. It is more important to be in harmony than to get your way.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — You may be feeling empty and want to fall back on old ways of filling emotional needs. Rather than retail therapy, put money aside for a rainy day. Your judgment is likely sound, but this is not a good time to try to be right.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — There may be something hidden in a situation — allow time for all the details to emerge before you take action. If someone wants to be "just friends" then you should accept their choice without question.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You can be honorable and ethical even when you are at your most ambitious point. You may be challenged to remain steadfast when bombarded by suspicions. Someone might not support or agree with your business model.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — An attractive investment may appear but keep your money in your pocket. Someone's motives might be obscure so depend on good advice and your own good judgment to steer clear of sketchy situations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Your creative juices may seem like they dried up and blew away. Reconstitute your ideas when you are feeling more relaxed and carefree. Wait until any tensions subside to make major decisions or important changes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Loved ones may have their own ideas about how to handle business and financial affairs. This might rub you the wrong way or ignite an argument. This isn't a good time to make crucial decisions or changes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Although you think you are smart and talented enough to navigate creative ideas, there may be more input than you can handle. Steer clear of any temptation to spend money or rack up long-term debt.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Showing appreciation and consideration can prevent disputes. You may be preoccupied with attaining success and be passionate about your work, but you should be thoughtful and always restrain your worst impulses.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Relationships and promises could be fraught with pitfalls. Someone could expect you to meet high standards that might be stressful to reach. Rely on someone's wise advice to guide you in the right direction.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Some people or products might seem glamorous from a distance, but when you get up close, they can be disappointing. Put the brakes on big expenditures and new investments because you can't accurately gauge results.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — You might bask in flattery, but it could become clear that some of your friendliness may have been misinterpreted by someone. Hard work can bring the rewards you desire so do not relax and become indulgent too soon.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You may feel like a dynamo of strategic planning, but your arrangements could work against your own best interests. You might be inspired to investigate tools that employ the latest technology or to make new plans.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Inspiring conversations could provide the necessary enthusiasm to move forward with a creative change. Make decisions at your own pace, work diligently and don't be intimidated by any pressure to give up.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Look at relationships objectively even if you must face some difficult feelings. Some of the tensions should subside in a day or two, so just remain patient — any emotional storm should blow over very quickly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Handle financial decisions with logic, not emotion. You may have big dreams and yearn for romance but you could mistake possessiveness for love. You might be tempted to escape from a difficult situation rather than facing it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Circle your wagons. You might need the protection of friends and mentors when you are in unknown and dangerous financial territory. You may be challenged to remain straightforward when it seems safer to be discreet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Appearances can be deceptive. Someone may read their own meaning into your words or think you are glamorous. It is wise to steer clear of new romantic entanglements that could become emotionally challenging.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Waves of emotional turmoil can upset your romantic balance. Maintain your equanimity and remain receptive even if a relationship seems to shift or falter. A business decision could possibly create a rift with a loved one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Place the emphasis on working with a partner to build financial security. Don't let small conflicts spoil your day. Ignore an urge to wield your credit card. Remind yourself that money won't buy love.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Some people aren't as desirable as they may seem. Remain cautious about passing attractions that might trigger someone's jealousy. It may be tempting to abandon someone or something but don't burn your bridges.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — If you follow the rules and do not take advantage of anyone, you can feel more secure and safe. Just because someone else decides to take calculated risks does not mean that is the best tactic for you to use for yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — You may be romantically minded and prefer to ignore harsh realities. This isn't the best time to hold a heart-to-heart talk because loved ones could be more interested in facts and figures. Focus on inspiring and uplifting ideas.

Celtics honor Russell prior to season opener vs. 76ers

BY KYLE HIGHTOWER
ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOSTON — Bill Russell helped establish and define the standard for the Boston Celtics.

The franchise took its latest opportunity to honor its greatest player before its season opener against Philadelphia on Tuesday night.

The Celtics held the first of two planned ceremonies this season to commemorate Russell since he died July 31 at age 88. A second celebration will take place Feb. 12, Russell's birthday.

Signs of his life and legacy were sprinkled all over TD Garden.

There were video tributes highlighting some of Russell's biggest moments on and off the court.

The team also wore No. 6 patches on its special edition jerseys, which included a Celtics script fashioned after the same one as the Slade's Bar and Grill restaurant that Russell owned for several years. The uniforms included 11 gold diamonds down the sides, signifying the 11 championships Russell helped bring Boston over a 13-year span during his storied career.

Flanked by his current Celtics teammates, Jaylen Brown stood at midcourt before tipoff and asked the capacity crowd rhetorically what defined Russell's greatness.

"Bill Russell was a great man for what and who he stood for," Brown said. "He represented a nobility and honesty that transcended sport. … He was a true champion both on and off the floor and our gratitude is endless."

The ceremony ended with performances by singer Aloe Blacc and a poem by Boston Poet Laureate Porsha Olayiwola.

Later, fans honored Russell's widow, Jeannine Russell, as she sat courtside and tearfully acknowledged a standing ovation during a timeout in the third quarter.

The racial and social justice activism that Russell was also a champion of was on display with two Black coaches squaring off against one another. When Russell became player-coach of the Celtics he was he first Black coach in any of the major U.S. sports leagues.

76ers coach Doc Rivers, who coached Boston for 11 seasons and led the franchise to its 17th title during the 2007-08 season, said being in the Garden on Tuesday was special for him.

"He meant a lot. He meant a lot before I arrived here," Russell said before the game. "Just for what he stood for, what he went through. Being the first Black coach. He meant a winner. I still don't think he gets enough credit. He did so many things, I don't think we talk enough about his winning. Not just at the NBA level, but everywhere he went he won."

Rivers said he'll always cherish getting to know Russell and other players from his generation during his Boston tenure.

"The thing I'll remember the most is how emotional he was when we won it," Rivers said. "I actually thought that with all the ex-players. You don't see that very often, just the connection that they have to this franchise. But he was visibly emotional. That was cool."

BLOOMINGTON — Indiana backup quarterback Jack Tuttle announced Monday that he will transfer at the end of this season.

Coach Tom Allen confirmed the news at the start of his weekly news conference, explaining the two spoke last week and that Tuttle, a team captain, would remain No. 2 on the depth chart.

The 23-year-old Tuttle is in his sixth college season and has one year of eligibility remaining.

"We had an open, honest talk about his time here and he has a desire to want to play his final year. I appreciate that," Allen said. "He's been a great leader for us, have a lot of love and respect for Jack. He's earned two degrees here. It's a unique situation, for sure, but I think it (staying this season) speaks to his character and what we're all about here."

Indiana football coach

The California prep star made four starts with the Hoosiers after transferring from Utah in 2019.

He replaced the injured Michael Penix in the sixth game of the eight-game 2020 season and closed out that year as the starter, then started two more games — losses to No. 10 Michigan State and No. 5 Ohio State — last season. Tuttle has completed 95 of 170 passes for 819 yards with four touchdowns and six interceptions during his career with the Hoosiers.

Indiana (3-4, 1-3 Big Ten) has lost four in a row. The announcement comes one week after Allen fired offensive line coach and run game coordinator Darren Hiller.

To the best of the School Corporation's ability, all questions will be addressed by or on behalf of the School Corporation and sent to potential bidders, including any bidders requesting 24 hours' notice of sale, no later than 5:00 p.m. (Indianapolis Time) on November 4, 2022. Additionally, upon request, the written responses will be emailed to any other interested bidder. Bidders should review this notice as well as the Preliminary Official Statement and submit any questions in advance of this deadline to submit questions.

The School Corporation reserves the right to adjust the maturity schedule following the sale in order to accomplish the School Corporation's financial objectives by reallocating debt service based upon the rates bid by the successful bidder (the "Purchaser").

The Bonds are not subject to optional redemption prior to maturity.

A bid may designate that a given maturity or maturities shall constitute a term bond, and the semiannual amounts set forth in the schedule provided prior to the sale shall constitute the mandatory sinking fund redemption requirements for such term bond or bonds. For purposes of computing net interest cost, the mandatory redemption amounts shall be treated as maturing on the dates set forth in the schedule provided prior to the sale.

In the case of any redemption, 30 days' notice will be given by mail to the registered owners of the Bonds to be redeemed, and accrued interest will be paid to the date fixed for redemption. Interest on the Bonds so called for redemption will cease on the redemption date fixed in said notice if funds are available at the place of redemption to redeem the Bonds so called on the date fixed in said notice, or thereafter when presented for payment.

The Bonds have been designated as qualified taxexempt obligations for purposes of Section 265(b)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code").

Each bid must be for all of the Bonds and must state the rate of interest which each maturity of the Bonds is to bear, stated in multiples of 1/8th or 1/100th of 1%. The maximum interest rate of the Bonds shall not exceed 5.00% per annum. All Bonds maturing on the same date shall bear the same rate. No bid for less than 99% of the face value of the Bonds will be considered. The Bonds will be awarded to the lowest responsible and responsive bidder who has submitted a bid in accordance herewith. The Purchaser will be the one who offers the lowest net interest cost to the School Corporation, to be determined by computing the total interest on all of the Bonds to their maturities based upon the schedule provided by the School Corporation prior to the sale and deducting therefrom the premium bid, if any, and adding thereto the discount bid, if any. No conditional bids will be considered. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. If an acceptable bid is not received for the Bonds on the date of sale hereinbefore fixed, the sale may be continued from day to day thereafter without further advertisement, during which time no bid which provides a higher net interest cost to the School Corporation than the best bid received at the time of the advertised sale will be considered.

A good faith deposit ("Deposit") in the form of cash, wire transfer or certified or cashier's check in the amount of 1% of the par amount of the Bonds, payable to the order of the School Corporation, is required to be submitted by the Purchaser not later than 3:30 p.m. (Indianapolis Time) on the next business day following the award. If such Deposit is not received by that time, the School Corporation may reject the bid. No interest on the Deposit will accrue to the Purchaser. The Deposit will be applied to the purchase price of the Bonds. In the event the Purchaser fails to honor its accepted bid, the Deposit will be retained by the School Corporation as liquidated damages.

The Purchaser shall make payment for such Bonds and accept delivery thereof within five days after being notified that the Bonds are ready for delivery, at such place in the City of Indianapolis, Indiana, as the Purchaser may designate, or at such other location mutually agreed to by the School Corporation and the Purchaser. The Bonds will be ready for delivery within 45 days after the date of sale. If the School Corporation fails to have the Bonds ready for delivery prior to the close of banking hours on the fortyfifth day after the date of sale, the Purchaser may secure the release of the bid upon request in writing, filed with the School Corporation. Unless otherwise requested by the winning bidder, the Purchaser is expected to apply to a securities depository registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") to make such Bonds depositoryeligible. If the Bonds are reoffered, at the time of delivery of the Bonds to the Purchaser, the Purchaser will be required to certify to the School Corporation the initial reoffering price to the public of a substantial amount of each maturity of the Bonds.

All provisions of the bid form and Preliminary Official Statement (as hereinafter defined) are incorporated herein. As set forth in the Preliminary Official Statement, the Purchaser agrees by submission of their bid to assist the School Corporation in establishing the issue price of the Bonds under the terms outlined therein and shall execute and deliver to the School Corporation at closing an "issue price" certificate, together with the supporting pricing wires or equivalent communications, with such modifications as may be appropriate or necessary, in the reasonable judgment of the Purchaser, the School Corporation and Ice Miller LLP ("Bond Counsel").

Bidders must comply with the rules of PARITY® (the "Rules") in addition to requirements of this Notice. To the extent there is a conflict between the Rules and this Notice, this Notice shall control. Bidders may change and submit bids as many times as they wish during the sale, but they may not withdraw a submitted bid. The last bid submitted by a bidder prior to the deadline for the receipt of bids will be compared to all other final bids to determine the winning bid. During the sale, no bidder will see any other bidder's bid, nor will they see the status of their bid relative to other bids (e.g., whether their bid is a leading bid).

It is anticipated that CUSIP identification numbers will be printed on the Bonds, but neither the failure to print such numbers on any Bond nor any error with respect thereto shall constitute cause for failure or refusal by the successful bidder therefor to accept delivery of and pay for the Bonds in accordance with the terms of its proposal. No CUSIP identification number shall be deemed to be a part of any Bond or a part of the contract evidenced thereby and no liability shall hereafter attach to the School Corporation or any of its officers or agents because of or on account of such numbers. All expenses in relation to the printing of CUSIP identification numbers on the Bonds shall be paid for by the School Corporation; provided, however, that the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of said numbers shall be the responsibility of and shall be paid for by the Purchaser. The Purchaser will also be responsible for any other fees or expenses it incurs in connection with the resale of the Bonds.

The approving opinion of Bond Counsel, together with a transcript of the proceedings relating to the issuance of the Bonds and closing papers in the usual form showing no litigation questioning the validity of the Bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder at the expense of the School Corporation.

The Bonds are being issued for the purpose of the renovation of and improvements to facilities throughout the School Corporation, including site improvements and the purchase of equipment and technology, and will be direct obligations of the School Corporation payable out of ad valorem taxes to be collected on the taxable property within the School Corporation; however, the School Corporation's collection of the levy may be limited by operation of I.C. 61.120.6, which provides taxpayers with tax credits for property taxes attributable to different classes of property in an amount that exceeds certain percentages of the gross assessed value of that property. The School Corporation is required by law to fully fund the payment of debt service on the Bonds in an amount sufficient to pay the debt service, regardless of any reduction in property tax collections due to the application of such tax credits. The School Corporation may not be able to levy or collect additional property taxes to make up this shortfall. The School Corporation is a school corporation organized pursuant to the provisions of I.C. 2023; the Bonds will not be "private activity bonds" as defined in Section 141 of the Code.

The School Corporation is conducting this sale pursuant to Indiana Code § 5-1-11-1(2) and is using a competitive process outlined in this notice for the purpose of selecting the Purchaser to whom it will sell its Bonds pursuant to the terms in this notice.

The Bonds constitute an indebtedness only of the School Corporation. In the opinion of Bond Counsel, under the existing federal statutes, decisions, regulations and rulings, the interest on the Bonds is exempt from all income taxation in Indiana. In the opinion of Bond Counsel, under the existing federal statutes, decisions, regulations and rulings, the interest on the Bonds is excludable from gross income for purposes of federal income taxation.

The School Corporation has prepared a Preliminary Official Statement (the "Preliminary Official Statement") relating to the Bonds which it has deemed nearly final. A copy of the Preliminary Official Statement may be obtained from the School Corporation's municipal advisor, Baker Tilly, 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 462402687. Within seven (7) business days of the sale, the School Corporation will provide the successful bidder with sufficient copies of the Final Official Statement (the "Final Official Statement") at the School Corporation's expense in order for such bidder to comply with Section (b)(4) of the SEC Rule 15c2-12 and the rules of the Municipal Securities Rulemaking Board. Additional copies, at the Purchaser's expense, must be requested within five (5) business days of the sale. Inquiries concerning matters contained in the Preliminary Official Statement must be made and pricing and other information necessary to complete the Final Official Statement must be submitted by the Purchaser within two (2) business days following the sale to be included in the Final Official Statement.

If the Bonds are reoffered by an underwriter, the School Corporation agrees to enter into a fifth supplement to continuing disclosure undertaking (the "Master Agreement") in order to permit the Purchaser to comply with the SEC Rule 15c212, as amended to the date hereof (the "SEC Rule"). A copy of the Master Agreement is available from the School Corporation or municipal advisor at the addresses below.

The School Corporation has further agreed to comply with the Purchaser's reasonable requests to provide or disclose information and make appropriate filings which may be required in order for such purchaser to comply with the SEC Rule.

Further information relative to said issue and a copy of the Preliminary Official Statement may be obtained upon application to Baker Tilly, 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 46240, municipal advisor to the School Corporation; or Dr. Teresa Brown, Superintendent of the School Corporation, 2421 Wilson Avenue, Madison, Indiana 47250. If bids are submitted by mail, they should be addressed to the School Corporation, attention of 8365 Keystone Crossing, Suite 300, Indianapolis, Indiana 462402687.

UNC No. 1 in preseason AP Top 25 men's basketball

UK ranked 4th, Indiana is 13th

BY DAVE SKRETTA
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

North Carolina surprised just about everyone last year when a talented team led by first-year coach Hubert Davis parlayed a No. 8 seed in the NCAA Tournament into a run to the national title game.

The Tar Heels won't be sneaking up on anyone this year.

With four starters back from the team that lost to Kansas in New Orleans, the Tar Heels are the runaway pick as the preseason No. 1 in the AP Top 25 released Monday. They earned 47 of 62 first-place votes from a national media panel to easily outdistance Gonzaga, the top preseason team the past two years.

"As they opened up their lockers for the first practice of last year, there was a picture of the New Orleans Superdome in there. I wanted them to see where we were headed in April," Davis recalled last week. "The hard work and preparation, the practice that had to be put into place to put ourselves in position to do that. t's the same approach this year compared to last year. The only difference this year is the outside noise.

"Last year," Davis said, "the outside noise didn't think we had a chance. The outside noise this year thinks we do."

Gonzaga received 12 first-place votes while No. 3 Houston had one and fourth-ranked Kentucky the other two. Houston has its highest preseason ranking since 1983, when the third of the Cougars' Phi Slama Jama teams reached its second consecutive title game. Kentucky has its best preseason rank since 2019, when the season ended amid the pandemic.

There was a tie at No. 5 between the Jayhawks, who raised their latest national title banner inside Allen Fieldhouse earlier this month, and Big 12 rival Baylor, which raised its own championship banner the previous season.

It is the 10th time that North Carolina has been preseason No. 1, breaking a tie with Duke for the most in the history of the AP poll. Of those 10, two Tar Heels teams have gone on to win the NCAA title: the 1981-82 team coached by Dean Smith and featuring James Worthy, Sam Perkins and Michael Jordan, and the 2008-09 team coached by Roy Williams and featuring Tyler Hansbrough, Wayne Ellington and Ty Lawson.

A third team, Williams' 2015-16 squad, lost the final to Villanova on Kris Jenkins' buzzer-beating 3-pointer.

"It's an honor to be recognized for our team's potential," Davis said of securing the top spot in the poll, "but the only way for us to reach any of our dreams and goals will be to improve each and every day by our commitment to preparing, practicing and playing to the best of our ability."

Caleb Love, one of the four returning starters for North Carolina along with R.J. Davis, Leaky Black and Armando Bacot, said the focus will be on getting better daily ahead of the ACC grind.

Duke, where Jon Scheyer replaced Hall of Fame coach Mike Krzyzewski, was ranked seventh and UCLA eighth. Creighton has its best preseason ranking at No. 9, followed by Arkansas, Tennessee, Texas, Indiana, TCU and Auburn.

"You don't pay a lot attention to it when you're picked ninth," Bluejays coach Greg McDermott said of their preseason ranking in the Big East last season. "You go to work every day and try to get better every day. It's important we approach it the same this year."

The No. 13 Hoosiers have their first ranking since January 2019 and highest in the preseason since 2016.

Villanova, where Kyle Neptune is taking over for Hall of Fame coach Jay Wright, is No. 16, the lowest preseason ranking for the Wildcats since 2008. They were followed by Arizona, Virginia, San Diego State and Alabama.

The final five are Oregon, Michigan, Illinois, Dayton and Texas Tech.

"When I was in school as a player, I never bought into the rankings, what the media would say about our ball club. You still got to go out and play the game," Hoosiers coach Mike Woodson said. "Hell, my senior year we were ranked No. 1 and we didn't get it done. So at the end of the day I guess it's kind of nice for our players who haven't experienced that. Again, you got to go out and play. I mean, you got to prove it on the basketball floor. That's when it counts."

CONFERENCE WATCH

The Big 12 and SEC lead the way with five ranked teams. The Big Ten, Pac 12 and ACC have three apiece and the Big East has two. The West Coast, Atlantic 10, Mountain West and American Athletic conferences each have one team in the poll.

OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

Texas A&M was the first team outside the poll, followed by UConn, which appeared on 24 of 62 ballots. Miami, Purdue and Saint Louis were also eyeing a spot in the Top 25 when the first regular-season poll is released Nov. 14.
